the bounties of the harvest, as golden wheat bends beneath the western breeze. The people rejoice in festivals with music and dance, offering myrrh and incense to appease Isis, ensuring the inundation.